A Unique Command.
At Boulogne, during a royal reception, a number of English ladies in their anxiety to see everything pressed with such force against the soldiers who were keeping the line that the latter were forced to give way and generally were to use the expression of policemen, "blundered in the execution of their duty." The officer in command, observing the state of affairs, called out:
"One roll of the drum—if they don't stand back kiss them all."

After the first sound of the drum the ladies took to flight.
"If they had been French," said a Parisian journal, "they would have remained to a woman."—Illustrated Bits.

TO MOW DOWN YANKEES.

The Chain Shot Cannon That Was Invented by a Georgian.
A double barreled cannon designed to sweep down whole regiments of Union soldiers is one of the relics of the civil war and is perhaps the only "shooting iron" of the kind in the world.

Immediately after war was declared an iron worker named John Gilleland, then employed in one of the Athens foundries, decided that he could make a cannon with two barrels which should be more effective than a dozen of the usual kind. The death dealing invention was to be charged with iron balls of a nonexplosive nature, to which was to be attached a long stout chain, so that when the two barrels were fired simultaneously the balls and chain would mow down men by companies.

The cannon was cast. When it was entirely finished the inventor invited a number of his friends to a pine thicket on a hill on the outskirts of the city to see it work. The double barreled thing was placed in position on the hillside and a heavy charge of powder rammed home in each barrel and the chained balls loaded on top of this. The inventor's friends kept at a safe distance, and he applied the fuse. One charge of powder and ball "went off," but the other didn't. As the heavy ball shot out it carried with it the chain to the full length, ripping and caving around, over and under the pine saplings, rocks and mud, tearing up small trees and earth, and finally came circling back to the cannon which held the other ball with chain attached. The inventor was struck on one arm by the ball, now nearly spent, and knocked senseless, while friends feared to go near, supposing that the other barrel might take a notion to discharge. It was some time before the discharged ball lay motionless near the upturned cannon. The inventor's arm was shattered, making amputation necessary.

This was the first and last trial of the cannon which was to mow down the Yankees. Mr. Gilleland lost hope and interest with his arm, and the cannon was permitted to remain on the hill for many months, but was finally carried into the city, where for years it did most effective duty in celebrating elections and Christmas day. By and by the old death dealer was missed from its place near the old city hall, and no one seemed to know what had become of it. Finally, after diligent search, it was found in a junk shop. From this place it was resurrected, and the city council made an appropriation sufficient to have it mounted and placed near the Confederate monument, immediately opposite the government building.

As She Understood It.
A pretty rosy cheeked country girl entered one of our large department stores. It was bargain day, and the crowd was greater than usual. She had wandered about from floor to floor, a little bewildered at the magnitude of the establishment, the largest she had ever seen.

Seeing her, a floorwalker approached and said, "Is anybody waiting on you?"

"Yes, sir," said the girl, blushing to the roots of her flaxen hair. "He's outside; he wouldn't come in."—Philadelphia Ledger.

It is only by labor that thought can be healthy and only by thought that labor can be made happy.—Puck

FRUITS AND FLOWERS.

Rolling ground is the best for an orchard.
Blighted leaves and branches on fruit trees should be cut off and burned.

That a tree does not bear well every year is not an indication of disease. Most effective pruning is done in the early stages of the orchard's growth.

One advantage in pruning during the summer is that the wounds heal very quickly.

Dead branches are often the means of conveying decay to an otherwise healthy trunk.

In pruning roses cutting back closely produces, as a rule, fewer blossoms, but of a finer quality.

Never prune a tree unless there is good reason why a limb or branch should be taken off.

A moderately heavy soil that has been underdrained and subsoiled and they carefully worked is capable of producing the heaviest crops of fruit.

Deceptions of Wild Birds.
Falcon, hawk—the largest species—can compress their feathers and look very slim if they think it necessary to do so. As to the owls, they can hump up into any position they think most suitable. It is useless to look for these self preserving traits in any of the family kept in zoological collections, for the birds are so accustomed to see large numbers of people passing and reappearing or standing in front of them that they treat the whole matter with perfect indifference. They know that at a certain time their food will be brought them and that they are otherwise perfectly safe. Then the raptors in a wild state have a bloom on their plumage like the bloom on a bunch of grapes, which is not often seen when in captivity.—Cornhill Magazine.

Disenchanted.
"Until I met you, Matilda," he murmured in a voice husky with emotion, "I believed that all women were deceitful, but when I look into your clear, beautiful eyes I behold there the very soul of candor and loyalty."

"George," she exclaimed with enthusiasm, "this is the happiest moment I have known since papa took me to the London oculist!"

"London oculist?"
"Yes, dear; you never would have known that my left eye is a glass one." Then the moon went under a cloud, and George sat down and buried his face in the sofa cushion.—London Answers.

Didn't Dare.
"Why don't you try to demonstrate to your constituents that you are capable of an unselfish action?"
"My dear sir," answered Senator Sorghum, "if these people who have known me for years were to find me doing something in which I had no apparent interest they'd get suspicious and decide that I was engaged in a deep and diabolical plot."—Washington Star.

Alas, Too Late.
Kitty—What did you do when he threatened to kiss you?
Blanche—I didn't do anything. Why should I? I just waited until he had committed an overt act.

Kitty—And then?
Blanche—Why, then it was too late to punish him.—Boston Transcript.

Debts In China.
In China one can always borrow money on the strength of having a son, but nobody would advance him a cent if he had a dozen daughters. The former is responsible for the debts of his father for three generations. The latter is only responsible for the debts of her own husband.

Liverpool, generally called a wet place, has an average rainfall per annum of 34 1-3 inches.

THE ORIGIN OF COFFEE.

Why the Berry Defies Production in the United States.
As to the history of coffee, the legend runs that it was first found growing wild in Arabia. Hadji Omar, a dervish, discovered it in 1285, 617 years ago. He was dying of hunger in the wilderness, when, finding some small round berries, he tried to eat them, but they were bitter. He tried roasting them, and these he finally steeped in some water held in the hollow of his hand and found the decoction as refreshing as if he had partaken of solid food. He hurried back to Mocha, from which he had been banished, and, inviting the wise men to partake of his discovery, they were so well pleased with it that they made him a saint.

The story is told that coffee was introduced into the West Indies in 1723 by Chirac, a French physician, who gave a Norman gentleman of the name of De Cleux, a captain of infantry on his way to Martinique, a single plant. The sea voyage was a stormy one, the vessel was driven out of her course, and drinking water became so scarce that it was distributed in rations. De Cleux, with an affection for his coffee plant, divided his portion of water with it and succeeded in bringing it to Martinique, although weak, not in a hopeless condition. There he planted it in his garden, protected it with a fence of thorns and watched it daily until the end of the year, when he gathered two pounds of coffee, which he distributed among the inhabitants of the island to be planted by them. From Martinique coffee trees in turn were sent to Santo Domingo, Guadalupe and other neighboring islands.

The coffee tree is an evergreen shrub, growing in its natural state, to a height of fourteen to eighteen feet. It is usually kept trimmed, however, for convenience in picking the berries, which grow along the branches close to the leaves and resemble in shape and color ordinary cherries. The tree cannot be grown above the frost line, neither can it be successfully grown in the tropics.

The most successful climate for production is that found at an altitude of about 4,000 feet. Anything much above this is in danger of frost, which is fatal to the tree, and when coffee is grown much below this it requires artificial shade, which materially increases the cost of production and does not produce as many berries. It is owing to this particular requirement that coffee has never been successfully produced in the United States.—Success.

MAKING BREAD.
Biscuit and rolls require a hotter oven than bread.

Bread should rise to twice its original quantity before it is ready to bake.

The sponge should be set at night if the baking is to be done in the morning; otherwise set it early in the morning.

Bread and biscuits should rise in a moderately warm place, for if too cold it will be heavy or if too hot it is likely to sour.

Milk is preferable for mixing. In some cases the quantity used will have to be varied a little, as some flour will absorb more moisture than others.

A good sponge can be made of one part of sifted flour, one cake of compressed yeast dissolved in a cupful of warm water and liquid enough to make a batter. It should be left to rise till light.—Exchange.

TO CORRESPONDENTS.

We look to the friends of the Ledger to keep up good and interesting news of public interest happening in any part of the county. Our regular correspondents will be furnished with writing material and stamps for this purpose. Births, deaths, marriages, accidents, amusements, mining and other industrial progress, social topics, new buildings, persons leaving or coming into the county, are always acceptable. Give details of important items, no matter how rough a shape. Avoid personal remarks that might give offense. Visitors between towns in the county need not be mentioned, but visits from or to places beyond the county may be recorded.

GRAND JURY REPORT.

The report of the grand jury which appears elsewhere in this issue, is the most sensible and business-like document that has been presented by a grand jury in this county for many years. We are free to say that the body that met last week appeared to be actuated by a determination to do something of a practical nature, and they have accomplished that purpose. The report is short; but it is to the point. The topics treated upon are few, but not one suggestion however is out of place, while several are of vital importance to the welfare of the county. We note in this report an entire absence of that fulsome adulation which had become almost stereotyped in such reports. The jury was no doubt hampered by lack of time. Called together on Friday, and with an objection to adjourning over Sunday, it was deemed advisable to get through with their labor Saturday night, and they did so, having an evening session for that purpose. Had it not been for this pressure of time-limit, the disposition of the jury would have probably been to probe county affairs more minutely. As it is, they have unquestionably made a good beginning in the direction of reform. By all odds, the most important suggestion made by the report is the recommendation that persons doing work for the county upon the roads, swear to their own claims, and have them allowed in their own names. The system of proxy affidavits, the lumping of twenty or thirty different claims in the name of the road commissioner, who alone figures in the minutes as the claimant, has been fought by the Ledger for years. It is not sanctioned by law, its tendency is vicious and utterly opposed to public interests. We have no hesitation in saying that if the result of the grand jury meeting is the abolition of this abomination—and it will have brought about the most desirable reform that has been accomplished in Amador county for the past twenty years.

The only argument that has been trotted forward in behalf of the discredited system is that it effects a saving in the matter of record books. If road bills are to be presented by the parties actually performing the work, and separately entered in the minutes, it is argued the space in the court house will rapidly fill up with record books. Besides, this lumping of the bills by the supervisor in each district saves considerable clerical labor in entering up the minutes. It is easier to record one bill presented by a supervisor, than twenty or more bills presented by as many different workers on the road. This reasoning is specious, and altogether unsound. If it is good in road matters, it ought to be good in other departments. Why not the superintendent of the hospital lump all the bills against the hospital fund, and draw the money, and pay the same to the different parties entitled thereto. That would be just as legal as the adoption of the system in road matters. Why not the district attorney or the clerk undertake to consolidate all the claims against the current expense fund in the same way. The plan would save clerical work, and also economize in record space and stationery. If it is in order to keep the taxpayers in the dark as to the identity of claimants against the road funds, it is equally proper to conceal the personality of the claimants against other funds. The fact is the method is wrong; it is contrary to law, it is demoralizing in its tendency, and no greater service was ever rendered by a grand jury than the recommendation by that body that it be discontinued.

Bad Indeed. Losing flesh is indeed a bad sign. Take Scott's Emulsion for it. For weak digestion, for defective nourishment, for consumption, take Scott's Emulsion. It restores flesh because it strikes to the cause of the loss.

THE LABOR WAR IN TUOLUMNE

The labor agitators at Solsbyville, Tuolumne county, who took it upon themselves to run the Chinese out of that camp have "struck" trouble. A few Chinamen were employed at the Black Oak mine in doing such work as no white man could be got to do at the same wages—$1.75 per day. It was disagreeable work, and the pay—although as much as the company could afford—was not such as to induce other workmen to accept the job. Two or three union men of the professional agitator stripe, conceived the idea that it was all wrong to have these Celestials earning this pittance. They raised the oft-repeated cry of "The Chinese must go." Their own miners' union would not sanction the program, so they took their trumpet tongues to nearby camps and succeeded in gathering an army of about 150 ignorant sympathizers, and with this force descended upon the mine, and by force and violence drove or carried the Mongolians off. The affair was "peaceably and quietly done," runs one account. In their overweening vanity these leaders—dressed in a little brief authority—imagined they were doing great things by this crusade. They wanted to pose as vindicators of the rights of the oppressed legions of labor. They thought with the union cohorts behind them, they were numerically strong—strong enough to take the law into their own hands. It is unfortunate that instead of trying to discourage the spirit of defiance, those whose business it is to guide popular sentiment into healthy channels have remained dumb-awed by the strength of the union movement. The result is the mining enterprise which has been the mainstay of the place for years, is at a standstill; the miners are out of work. The boycotters find their victory turned into a defeat, and that with all their sympathizers, they constitute a very small minority in the dominions of Uncle Sam. The state, county, and federal governments are on their trail, demanding the punishment of the perpetrators of this outrage upon our free institutions. The movement has proved a boomerang. The Western Federation has been seriously crippled of late by the acts of its rabid members. It should muzzle the fire-eaters or fire them out of its ranks if it wishes to regain the confidence of the classes it is designed to help and defend.

A Good Name.

From personal experience I testify that DeWitt's Little Early Risers are unequalled as a liver pill. They are rightly named because they give strength and energy and do their work with ease.—W. T. Easton, Boerne, Tex. Thousands of people are using these tiny little pills in preference to all others, because they are so pleasant and effectual. They cure biliousness, torpid liver, jaundice, sick headache, constipation, etc. They do not purge and weaken, but cleanse and strengthen. Sold by City Pharmacy, Jackson.

Severely Injured by a Fall.

D. A. Patterson, county recorder, met with a severe fall Monday afternoon. It was the first time he had been down to his office for a week, owing to the damp weather. Monday afternoon he was sitting on top of the steps of the hall of records enjoying a sun bath. He got up to get down the steps. He had scarcely started when his crutches seemed to slip, and he fell from the top clear to the bottom. His head struck the concrete pavement round the well, with such force as to cut a gash in the skull, from which the blood flowed freely. Assistance was promptly rendered, and Dr. Gall reached him in a few minutes. He was unconscious for a short time. He was taken home on a cot. An examination showed that his right arm was broken, and that he had received a severe shaking up. His advanced age and feeble health makes the accident assume a much more serious phase than it would otherwise.

Church Bazaar and Supper.

St. Augustine's Episcopal church of Jackson gave a supper and bazaar in the Brown building on Court street last evening. The ladies of the guild had been working for months in making fancy articles of every description for this bazaar, the proceeds of which were to go for the benefit of the church. The weather proved exceedingly unfavorable, nevertheless the supper was well patronized, netting about $20. We are not able to give the outcome of the bazaar. Among the articles on exhibition was a painting of the battleship Maine, by Mrs. Jos. Coombs, which attracted much attention, as it was placed on view in the show window of Glavinovich's store. It was disposed of by raffle, at 50 cents a chance. We have not heard who secured the prize.

Grand Jury Report.

To the honorable superior court, county of Amador, state of California. We, the members of the grand jury duly impaneled at Jackson, November 13, 1903, respectfully submit the following report:

We visited the county hospital, and found it in good condition, with the exception that the main part of the building needs a new roof. We found 58 inmates therein. We would recommend that the board of supervisors have a new roof put on the main or old portion of the building; that they have screens put in all the outside doors and windows of the county hospital, and furnish the steward with books and have him keep just and correct accounts of all supplies received and disposed of at the county hospital. Also that the district attorney inquire into and have such inmates as should be paying inmates, pay the rate fixed by the board of supervisors into the county treasury.

We would further recommend that the grounds around the hospital be cultivated to a certain extent, to improve the appearance of the place and also be a benefit to the finances of the institution.

We find the present management to be satisfactory, except in the matter of being absent from the institution more than we deem actually necessary.

The grand jury having obtained information that there are various saloons throughout this county frequented by minors, and liquor obtained there by them, and having been informed that one such place is run in such a manner that the same is detrimental to the morals of the community in which it is conducted in defiance of the law and the law officers; we would recommend that the board of supervisors revoke the license of all such places.

We would also recommend that the officers enforce the law in reference to young men making their homes in houses of ill fame.

We have looked over the books and accounts of the various officers of the county and find the same in good order, and that the books are kept in good shape; and find nothing to warrant the appointment of an expert to examine the same.

We counted the money in the treasury and found the amount to be $32,940.88, which corresponds with the statement of the county auditor.

The jail was carefully looked into and found to be in good condition and neatly kept. We found two prisoners therein, one committed for vagrancy, and one not committed; the district attorney awaiting the result of assault committed by the prisoner before making the charge.

We would recommend that the road commissioners see to the matter of having men working upon the roads, each doing eight hours work per day when working on the same.

We would also recommend to the board of supervisors that the custom of the road commissioners putting in the various items for road work in the various districts into one bill, and sworn to by the road commissioner of each district be discontinued, and that each one have each person performing services or furnishing material for roads make out and verify his bill, and the same be allowed in the name of such person.

We also recommend that the court room of the supreme court be furnished with a comfortable set of chairs for the trial jury.

The jury finds that the telephone bills of the county officers are increasing every month. It would recommend that each officer have all messages not pertaining to county business charged to the party sending or receiving the same.

In conclusion, we desire to thank the county officers for their uniform kindness in furnishing us information as desired, and courtesy in explaining various matters to this jury.

Respectfully submitted,
M. D. NIXON, Foreman.
L. J. FONTENROSE, Secretary.

Claude Smith at Tonopah.

Claude Smith, well-known throughout this county, and for a time connected with the Ledger in 1902, is still in the vicinity of Tonopah, Nev. He is in a mining district named Goldfield, adjacent to the Tonopah district, and a camp only recently discovered. From the Tonopah Miner of Nov. 7, we take the following items, which indicate that our friend Smith has got fairly started on the road to prosperity, being both office holder and mine owner:

District Recorder Smith states that the books of his office have arrived, and he is now ready for business. He will soon commence the construction of a combined office and residence. Smith and Kernick are just completing the location work on the Spearhead group of 11 claims. On the Alga Fraction, at a depth of 7 feet, they have a ledge 5 feet wide, and hornings of the ore have indicated a value of close to $100 to the ton. On the Elizabeth claim of this group, the location work has just been started, but already good ore has been found; a picked sample from which went $50 to the ton. Mr. Smith was asked to put a price on this group, but refused to do so until considerable more development work has been done.

A Remarkable Case.

One of the most remarkable cases of a cold, deep-seated on the lungs, causing pneumonia, is that of Mrs. Gertrude E. Fenner, Marion, Ind., who was entirely cured by the use of One Minute Cough Cure. She says: "The coughing and straining so weakened me that I ran down in weight from 148 to 92 pounds. I tried a number of remedies to no avail until I used One Minute Cough Cure. Four bottles of this wonderful remedy cured me entirely of the cough, strengthened my lungs and restored me to my normal weight, health and strength." Sold by City Pharmacy, Jackson.

Shipping from the Agricultural Station.

A pair of Persian sheep were shipped from the agricultural station on Wednesday, also a lot of choice pot plants and shrubs. The sheep were each packed in a wire cage, and sent by express to a point in Montana. These sheep, it is claimed, thrive well in this country. The wool is of longer staple than the common sheep, and commands a higher price; besides the fleece is heavier. All the movable property is being sent away from the station, preliminary to its being surrendered to the trustees. We understand the station is to be turned over to the three trustees—A. Caminetti, W. E. Kent and M. Newman—for the benefit of the town. What will be done with it after the trustees are in control we do not know.

Deafness Cannot be Cured by local applications as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are cured by the Eustachian Tube. We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free. P. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O. Sour Stomach

No appetite, loss of strength, nervousness, headache, constipation, bad breath, general debility, sour risings, and catarrh of the stomach are all due to indigestion. Kodol cures indigestion. This new discovery represents the natural juices of digestion as they exist in a healthy stomach, combined with the greatest known tonic and constructive properties. Kodol Dyspepsia Cure does not only cure indigestion and dyspepsia, but this famous remedy cures all stomach troubles by cleansing, purifying, sweetening and strengthening the mucous membranes lining the stomach.

Mr. S. S. Ball, of Ravenswood, W. Va., says: "I was troubled with sour stomach for twenty years. Kodol cured me and we are now using it in milk for baby."

Charles Corin, who has worked for years in the mines around Jackson, fell in distance of 15 feet in the shaft of the mine Seco copper mine recently. Mrs. Fred Eudey has been under the doctor's care for several months. In the early part of the week her condition was such that Dr. Allen of Stockton was called in consultation with a physician. There was a heated competition between the Standard and American River Electric Company. The rates were set in half. The local gas company secured the contract, the Standard to furnish electricity heretofore.

Some business places in Jackson are looking for Buena Vista coal, instead of for fuel. It is claimed that at 10 per ton it is cheaper than wood at $6.50 and $7 per cord. Of course, it gives a different stove, and the cost of hanging stoves will militate against general adoption for a while. Two or three places here have fixed up for use, and if experience proves that it meets a material saving, it is only a question of time when this fuel will be into general use. It is also rising in favor in Lodi and other valley towns in easy distance. Enough teams can be secured to haul the product in the mine to Lodi to meet the demand. There is a large deposit in Jackson valley; indeed the supply is considered practically inexhaustible.

has. E. Newmann, who died at the city hospital last Friday, after being at that institution one day, was one of the best pianists on this coast. He at one time a member of the Reginald Band of Stockton, and was considered a musician of high rank. He also a well educated man generally, came from a family of high standing in Germany. It is claimed he has rather who is rated as a millionaire. Along the effects of the deceased was found a memorandum book, in which a number of entries were found. One of the names of relatives in Germany were to be informed in case of anything happening to him. Another entry related to his rich relative, who had died to assist him with means. A note for intoxicating liquor was no doubt the cause of his being deserted by his connections. He was buried on Monday, a subscription being taken up in Jackson to defray the expenses of burial.

THE BURBANK TRIAL IN SHASTA.

An Amador County Young Man on Trial for his Life.

The trial of John Burbank, a young man born and raised in the eastern part of this county, was commenced in the superior court of Shasta county at Redding last Monday. Burbank is accused of the murder of Dora Lemory, also known as Viola Myers and Dora Streuber, in a dance hall at De La Mar on the 15th of July last. After fatally shooting his victim, he turned the weapon upon himself, inflicting a superficial wound on his neck. The Sacramento Bee's special correspondent says of the proceedings on the opening day: "The accused, John Burbank, was dressed up in his best suit of clothes. He had evidently taken particular pains to make himself presentable. His face was cleanly shaven, and his toilet had been made out with great care. He looks to be in perfect health, notwithstanding his four months' confinement in jail."

Four women sat within the bar. They were privileged witnesses. Three of them were the weeds of mourning. Everyone was curious to know who they were. The first lady of the four was Mrs. Dora Lemory, of Oakland, mother of the Dora Lemory who was killed in the De La Mar dance hall by John Burbank. Next to Mrs. Lemory, the elbows touching, sat Mrs. A. H. A. Burbank, of Jackson, Amador county. She is the mother of the prisoner at the bar. She is bowed down by years and grief and pain. She has walked on crutches all her life. She is dressed in mourning, as was Mrs. Lemory. Who can look into the two mothers' hearts and read the emotions there? They attend this trial from different motives—one in her heart-love praying for mercy upon her wayward son, and the other asking that justice may fall upon the slayer of her wayward daughter.

The two other women within the bar are Mrs. Eva Leibhardt and Mrs. Della Joyce, both of Jackson, Amador county. They are sisters of Burbank.

The list of witnesses subpoenaed on behalf of the defense is a long one and as usual includes a large number of character witnesses. Burbank's parents live in Amador county and from there were called the following: Walter Webster, William Denend, Robert O. McKean and Findlay Goodman, of Volcano; Clarence Bradshaw and Charles Strimman of Pine Grove, and John Norton, Maurice L. Plasse and Nick Ferari of Jackson.

Judging from the line of questioning addressed to the prospective jurors, Burbank's attorneys will set up the claim that he acted in self-defense in shooting Dora Streuber. One noticeable feature of the prosecution was that every man in the jury box was asked whether he was a member of any labor union. This is a lesson learned by the Gallanar trial, where the one juror who favored acquittal is said to have been influenced in his decision by the fact that he and the defendant were both labor union men. Burbank, in this instance, is a labor union man.

Surprising progress was made on the first day as the twelve jurors were secured by the time court adjourned for the day. Contrary to the usual order in criminal trials the testimony of the reputation witnesses was taken first, before the prosecution opened its case. This was done for economy sake. There were eight of these witnesses from Amador county, at a cost of $30 each. They were examined at the commencement of the trial, paid off, and allowed to depart.

The De La Mar witnesses, who were on the scene directly after the tragedy, and took part in the arrest of the alleged murderer, told facts that were of some importance. They told of how Burbank came down from the upper room where he had fired three death-dealing bullets into the body of Dora Streuber, and used the words: "I have killed her, and I am glad of it. I did a good job on her, and a bum one on myself." After the killing he had fired one shot at himself, but had miserably failed to do good work on himself. Witnesses testified that he said that if it was to do over again he would do the same thing again.

Dora Streuber was the inmate of a dance hall. She had been living with Burbank off and on, and because she would not heed his entreaties and leave the dance hall life to live with him, he is alleged to have taken her life. She lived but four or five minutes after she had been shot, and before dying kissed the lips of the man who had killed her.

It is believed that the case will be given to the jury Thursday evening.

A curious experience happened at the agricultural experiment station a few weeks ago. Nine sheep of the Persian variety were sent up there. They consisted of two males and seven females. They were kept in two separate pens. One night a lot of green feed was thrown into the pen where the female sheep were kept. Fortunately, the same kind of feed was kept out of the other pen. Next morning all seven sheep were found dead. The fatality is attributed to something in the feed; the two in the other pen were not affected in the least. The mishap settled the scheme to raise this kind of sheep in Amador county. The two bucks were shipped out this week.

The first of a series of entertainments under the auspices of the Epworth League of the Methodist church was given Tuesday evening. It was a success in every sense of the word. Imperial Minstrels Show.

On the occasion of the initial appearance of the Imperial Minstrels of San Andreas before a Jackson audience, Love's hall was crowded to the doors last Saturday evening, and that too in spite of the inclement weather that had prevailed for several days. All the reserved seats were disposed of long before the day of the performance, and there were about twice the number of these seats than are usually reserved. The program consisted of minstrelsy for the first part. There were 15 performers on the stage, all decked with ebony frontpieces. The tambo and men were J. C. Tilden and Geo. H. Treat, who were well supported by the bones, J. J. Halley and G. E. Furlong. These were the big four of the show, conspicuous throughout not only from the fact of their being scarlet-coated, but also because the songs and sallies of wit fell mainly to their lot. The witticisms were very good—several were new to a Jackson audience at least—and the coupling of some local business men with a joke occasionally was appreciated by a storm of applause. The rendition of the songs was equal to many of the professionals, and certainly the interest taken therein by the spectators was far greater, partly owing to the fact that the performers were amateurs, and many of them personally known to the townspeople. Wm. Nuner jr. acted as interlocutor, and filled the bill creditably. The songs presented were as follows:

Just Kiss yourself Good Bye. Mr. G. H. Treat
Down where the Cotton Blossoms Grow. Mr. Jarvis Lloyd
Mr. Johnson Shut that Door. Mr. C. E. Furlong
There's Nobody Just Like You. Mr. Frank Heath
Fate Away I'm Waiting For My Man. Mr. J. C. Tilden
I'll Be Busy All Next Week. Mr. J. C. Tilden
My Pauline. Quartette
Grand Finale. Every Race Has a Flag But The One. Messrs. Tilden, Halley, Furlong, Treat and Company

The intermediate medley consisted of the following: "Anona," Jarvis Lloyd; "Shakespeare up to date," W. W. Wall; "He was a Prince," Frank Heath; "Irish comicallities," J. C. Tilden and J. J. Halley; "The Stein," C. E. Furlong; "My Kentucky Babe," Heath, Lloyd, Treat and Furlong.

A farce entitled "The Terrible Bruiser," concluded the performance. The cast of characters was as follows: "J. J. Jeffreeze," J. C. Tilden; "C. Knockemout," C. E. Furlong; "E. Z. Graft," W. C. Wall; "Electricity," G. H. Treat; "Lightning," J. J. Halley.

The financial outcome was not as satisfactory. The expense of conveyance and other necessary cost in transporting nearly 20 performers was of course heavy, but we are pleased to say that such was the interest developed in the appearance of this company from Calaveras county, that the income was about sufficient to defray all liabilities. The receipts we understand were something over $130.

Labor Trouble at South Eureka.

A strike was inaugurated at the South Eureka mine last Tuesday, resulting in the quitting of the entire force of men—in all between 50 and 60. The strike came about in this way. An accident occurred by which the skip and cable in one compartment were let into the sump. No one was hurt, but on the recovery of the runaway skip and cable it was noticed that some kinks appeared in the cable, and the men objected to being lowered in that compartment. Foreman Moulder did not insist, and the other skip was used for a while. We are told that heavy loads were run up and down the shaft by the taboed cable to show that it was trustworthy and safe, and to satisfy the scruples of the men on that score. No one will blame the miners for refusing to take any extra risk in descending or ascending a mine, and it is not reasonable to think that any one in charge of a mine would ask them to do so. It appears that one miner was discharged, whether on account of the mishap or not we do not know. Two other employees took up the cause of the discharged man, and they were also informed that their services were no longer required. Thereupon the matter was laid before the miners' union, and a committee waited upon Superintendent Moore to know the cause of their discharge. He declined to satisfy them, claiming the right to discharge an employee without revealing the reason therefor. At this the men are said to have taken the stand that they would not return to work unless the discharged men were reinstated. This brought on the walk-out of the entire force. The superintendent refused to reinstate, and the men decided not to recede from their position. The mine was brought to a standstill. The men were paid off Tuesday evening; the superintendent at the same time giving them the opportunity of returning to work if they felt so disposed.

The South Eureka has been operating for many years, without any recompense to the stockholders. Assessments have been levied upon the shareholders repeatedly to keep it running. Still, giving employment to between 50 and 60 men, it has cut quite a figure in the business interests of Sutter Creek, and the immediate neighborhood of the works. The community will miss the money put in circulation monthly if the shut-down is prolonged. Some of the stockholders are outspoken in expressing indifference as to whether it resumes operations or not. It is hoped, however, that the matter will be adjusted, and the mine resume, with the old or other employees.

A man named Feretti Ambrogio was landed in the county jail by Sheriff Norman the latter part of last week. No formal charge has been made against him, for the reason that the outcome of the injuries inflicted upon the victim of his assault is yet in doubt. The affray happened in New Chicago on the 10th instant. It seems that Ambrogio was a miner employed at the Fremont, and that he was discharged a few days prior to the 10th. Salvatore Battaglia was also employed at the same mine, and Ambrogio had an idea that he acted unfriendly toward him. Both men had been indulging in liquor, and a quarrel ensued on the street of New Chicago. The upshot of it was that Ambrogio secured a piece of a wagon tire, some four feet long, and struck Battaglia in the small of the back with this formidable weapon. Whether he struck with the edge or the flat part of the iron we are not informed. At any rate, Battaglia is crippled, but not to the extent that was feared. He was around on crutches in a day or two after the occurrence.

Sheriff Norman and District Attorney Vicini visited New Chicago after the arrest of Ambrogio, and obtained information that put a different phase on the matter. It appeared that Battaglia was the aggressor throughout. He started in to run the mine, or run out the managers, and also clean out the town, because of his discharge. He went to a friend named Bonti in New Chicago and abused him. Ambrogio was standing by, and noticing that Battaglia kept his hand in his coat pocket, and believing that he had a gun, told him to take his hand out of his pocket. He failed to do so, and the blow with the iron bar was the result. After an investigation it was found that Battaglia did not have a gun, but had indulged in threats to kill.

Battaglia was arrested, and fined $50 by Judge Rose. Ambrogio was discharged.

A Handsome Souvenir.

We acknowledge receipt of a handsomely gotten up souvenir of the Preston Reform School. It gives a number of artistic half tone engravings showing the various departments of this school. The pamphlet contains a brief farewell of the retiring superintendent, C. B. Hiddick, on the eve of his departure. In this he says that his resignation was entirely voluntary. It was not sent in under pressure, and any statement to the contrary is maliciously false. Mr. Hiddick speaks in the highest terms of the officers of the school, who with scarcely an exception gave him their loyal support. He also mentions the uniform kindness of the business community of Ione, and the surrounding country. The only antagonisms created are such as any man in a public position, who is faithful to his trust, must necessarily create. Of his successor, Prof. W. T. Randall, of the University of Southern California, he refers to as a man in every way worthy of the position, and will cheerfully turn over the keys to him, knowing that the interests of the school will be safe in his hands.

ANOTHER PIONEER DEPARTED.

Thomas Conlon Passes Away.

Thomas Conlon, one of the early settlers of the county, passed to his long rest on Monday evening. His struggle with disease, and the consequent decay of the vital forces, had been a long and painful one. For the past two or three years he had been a helpless invalid, and the last few months were spent in bed. He peacefully and painlessly surrendered to the inevitable shortly before midnight last Monday.

Deceased has been a prominent resident of Jackson for the last forty-five years. He was born in county Clare, Ireland, on July 12, 1836. In 1852 he left his native land, and emigrated to the United States. After several years in the eastern states, he took passage on a steamer bound for San Francisco, and after reaching that port lost no time in proceeding to Mokelumne Hill to try his fortune at placer mining. He afterward moved to Butte City and Scottsville, in this county, following mining at each place. At Scottsville he unearthed a gold nugget of large size, which he kept as a memento for a time, until it was stolen from him. At length he came to Jackson to accept a position of trust in the court house. He served as clerk of court and deputy assessor for eight years, and was deputy sheriff for a like period. He was afterward elected county clerk and recorder, and filled that position for four years. He was always prompt and obliging in the discharge of his duty, and the breath of suspicion never attached to him in any way in his long period of public service. In 1895 he was united in marriage to Miss Ella Leonard, who survives him, and also a daughter, Anna C., the issue of their marriage. Since his retirement from the court house, he has been engaged in the insurance business, also a notary public, and up to the time of his death, and for many years prior thereto, was a trustee of Jackson school, and the clerk of the school board. Owing to his increasing disability, he was compelled to withdraw from business, although still nominally holding the offices of trustee and notary. He was a charter member of Jackson Lodge 138, A. O. U. W. In politics he was always a stalwart democrat, but tolerant of those who differed from him. In religion he was attached to the principles of the Catholic church.

The funeral obsequies were conducted Thursday morning. Services for the dead were held in the Catholic church, the Rev. J. J. Gleason officiating. The following acted as pallbearers: P. Dwyer, James Meehan, T. K. Norman, L. Poggi, John Flaherty, and Jas. Cook. The public school was closed all day in respect to the memory of one who had filled the office of trustee and clerk for so many years. The arrangement was for the children to attend in a body, but owing to the inclement weather this had to be abandoned. There was a long procession of mourners, a number from distant parts of the county, who had long known the deceased. The attendance would have been much larger had the weather been less stormy. The remains were interred in the Catholic cemetery, the deceased being a life long and consistent member of that organization.

Anti-Saloon Movement.

We are informed that a movement has been started in Ione, with the view of taking concerted action throughout the county, for the purpose of restricting the number of saloons, and increasing the license tax. Petitions are being circulated, and it is expected to have the same before the supervisors at their next meeting. These petitions set forth that the number of saloons is out of proportion to the population, and the supervisors are appealed to pass an ordinance to stop the further granting of licenses until the number of saloons is reduced fully one half; also to raise the license to a sum that will secure a revenue equal to that which has heretofore been secured from this source; also, that hereafter a license to retail liquor be granted only on a petition signed by a majority of the voters of the precinct in which the proposed saloon is located. The petition has been shown to a few in Jackson, but no effort has been made to press the matter. A few signatures had been secured, in all amounting to about a dozen, by the middle of this week.

Convicted in Tennessee.

A few months back H. Ward, who was employed as bookkeeper at the Keystone store in Amador City, was arrested in that town, charged with a crime committed in Tennessee. An officer came all the way from that state to effect his capture. He was quickly extradited, and taken back to the scene of his exploits, to stand trial. This week a dispatch from Clarksville, dated Nov. 17, says:

"H. Ward this morning was found guilty and sentenced to ten years for assaulting an eleven-year-old girl, who was an inmate of the Tennessee Old Fellows Orphans' Home, of which Ward formerly was superintendent for some months. Ward was extradited from California, where he fled when the scandal was imminent."

KICKED BY A MULE.

Fred Tabeau Meets With a Terrible Accident on the Road.

On Friday afternoon Fred Tabeau, a teamster employed by A. Piccardo in hauling freight between Ione and Jackson, met with an accident which, if it does not result fatally, will disfigure him for life. He was driving a ten-animal team heavily loaded, including a back-action, to Jackson. He had got as far as Mountain Springs. Another of Piccardo's teams was a short distance behind. For some reason Tabeau stopped the team, for the purpose of seeing that the load on the back wagon was all right. Some one remarked that it was getting late, and he would have to get a move on to make Jackson in reasonable time. No one witnessed the accident, and the victim himself has not recovered consciousness sufficient to explain it. It is believed, however, that Tabeau struck one of the mules with a stick or a rock, to hurry them up. He must have been quite close. The supposition is that the mule kicked viciously, striking him in the head. The teamster behind noticed the team start into a run, and he saw Tabeau lying unconscious in the road. He was taken to the Mountain Spring house, and a doctor was summoned. Drs. Adams of Ione and Endicott of Jackson were both called. The animal's hoof struck Tabeau over the left eye, crushing the skull and injuring the eye so badly that it is believed that it will have to be taken out. The bony structure around the socket is also broken. Tabeau has remained in an unconscious state since the occurrence. He is a young man, under 20 years of age, and a careful, trustworthy driver. The attending physicians are hopeful of his recovery, with perhaps the loss of the injured eye.

Cured of Piles After 40 Years.

Mr. C. Haney, of Geneva, O., had the piles for 40 years. Doctors and dollars could do him no lasting good. DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve cured him permanently. Invaluable for cuts, burns, bruises, sprains, lacerations, eczema, tetter, salt rheum, and all other skin diseases. Look for the name DeWitt on the package—all others are cheap, worthless counterfeits. Sold by City Pharmacy, Jackson.

MINING NOTES.

FREMONT.—The clean-up at the Fremont for the first run, we are reliably informed, averaged a trifle over $5 per ton, which was above expectations. The stockholders are quite elated, as the ore was a mixture of rock from the different levels, and is believed to be a fair sample of the quartz. The company is putting up five cottages for the use of the employees, and other indications tend to prove that a long and prosperous career of gold production is opening out for this property. Five dollars per ton—though not a high grade proposition—leaves a good margin of profit, with the facilities for economical working which exist at this property.

ARGONAUT.—The shaft repairs have been completed below the 1200 level. It is thought that the major portion of the task has been completed. The mine is likely to get into full swing early in the spring if nothing occurs in the meantime to defer that desirable result.

GOOD STRIKE.—Tim Hanley has recently run across a rich streak of ore in working his quartz claim on Boardman hill, Volcano. Rock of high values has been taken out of this claim in years past. The working of the claim has been intermittent, but whenever prospecting has been done to any extent, it has generally responded in the surrender of high grade quartz.

The Frates Estate.

The affairs of Frank Frates, who died recently in Ione, are in a badly mixed-up state. The public administrator has applied for letters of administration, and so also has the guardian of the minor heirs, W. A. Bennetts. In addition to this complication, another and worse mix-up has been discovered in relation to the affairs of Mrs. Frates, who died some months prior to the death of Frank Frates. In his lifetime Frates deeded nearly all the real estate to his wife. The real estate is situated in San Francisco and Monterey. The estate of Mrs. Frates was administered upon, but the administration has not been closed. It is now reported that the validity of the proceedings to straighten the title to the real property have been called in question, with the prospect that all that has been done may have to be set aside. At any rate the affairs are in a much tangled condition. It is claimed that the deeds were in the nature of a trust, and were held by Mrs. Frates for the benefit of the heirs. The contest over the administration—between the guardian, W. A. Bennetts, and the public administrator—will come up for hearing in the superior court next Monday.

PLYMOUTH NEWS.

PLYMOUTH, November 18.

Last Saturday evening a ball was given by the Catholics, music by the Grainger orchestra, the proceeds being for the church, but as the weather was so disagreeable a small crowd attended, making the proceeds quite small. A fish pond, superintended by Mrs. Seavey and Miss Clara Steiner, was in one corner of the hall, at which the children enjoyed themselves nicely by fishing for the treasures within the pond. The raffle for the following articles also took place: Sofa pillow (drawn work) Mrs. E. Brown; table scarf, Mrs. Shields; set silver teaspoons, Robert Davis; silver cake stand, Mrs. J. Brown; sofa pillow, (ocean wave) Mrs. Davis; silk quilt, Martin Derman; silver berry dish, Martin Derman.

Dr. W. A. Norman went to San Francisco, Tuesday, for a visit.

Miss Alma Dugan has been sick for two or three days with an attack of malaria.

Mr. Potter and family, from the east, are here visiting relatives.

Miss Myrtle Bell of Aukum is here spending a few days with relatives.

Early Saturday morning Mr. McGaffey, employee of A. L. Wait, discovered the dead body of Joseph Speakman lying in front of the Adams House. He immediately informed Messrs. Joe Datson and Wm. McCormick that there was "some one lying out there dead," upon which they rushed out of the hotel and found it to be Joseph Speakman, a well known young man of this vicinity. He was born in Pennsylvania in 1872 and lived the largest part of his life in Amador county, dying here at the age of 30 years, 6 months and 6 days. Three brothers and three sisters survive him. Inquest was held Saturday, verdict being death caused by heart failure. He was buried here Monday, November 16, Rev. Hockett officiating. The bereaved ones have the sympathy of all.

Mrs. A. L. Dugan and daughters returned from Folsom last week.

WHEN ONE IS A GUEST.

The Pleasures of Visiting and the Duties of the Visitor.

It is a pleasing sensation to wake up in the morning and feel that one is a guest. Strange wall papers and strange furniture surround one's bed, and there is a strange view out of the window.
All the jostling demons of worry, anxiety and responsibility, whether domestic or professional, who stand ready to crowd upon our consciousness vanish in the unfamiliar environment. We have got away out of the claws of the usual and the blissfully waiting for a knock at the door which shall have an unfamiliar sound.

Downtowns we find new faces, new pictures, strange books, a fresh standpoint. Life has a new savor. We taste it everywhere in the atmosphere and in the conversation, even in the bread and the salt. Our first sensation is that everything depends upon somebody else.
It is nothing to do with us whatever happens. But presently the old triumph of life has its duties, comes back to our mind, and though with our waking thoughts we cast off those of the home dweller we must immediately prepare to take on those of a guest, at least if we are constitutionally conscientious, which, alas, all guests are not. They may indeed be divided by this conscience test into visiting sheep and visiting goats.

The motto of the conscientious guest is Mme. Mohl's well known saying, "It is a shame to eat another man's bread and give him nothing in return." Such a one should be a joy to his hostess, but in the holiday world of hosts and guests, as in workaday life, good intentions do not always insure success. The conscientious sometimes fail where the unconscientious succeed.—London Spec-

THE SENSE OF SMELL.

The Aborigines of Peru Have Developed a Wonderful

How infinitely minute must be the particles that emanate from the object which the dog is tracking, says the London Mail. Yet the matter is exceedingly divisible. The tenth part of a grain of musk will continue for years to fill a room with its odoriferous particles and at the end of that time will not be appreciably diminished in weight by the finest balance. A cubic inch of air rising from the flame of a Bunsen burner has been found to contain no fewer than 480,000,000 dust particles. A drop of blood which might be suspended from the point of a needle contains about a million of red flattened corpuscles. Still, though matter is so marvelously divisible, the olfactory nerves are infinitely more sensitive. Much has yet to be investigated with regard to the differentiation of the points in these nerves so that they may discriminate with such apparently miraculous accuracy. Yet even the results in the scent of dogs show how marvelously fine is their discriminating power. Our sense of smell, unless in the trained chemist, is not even so acute as that of the semisavage. The aborigines of Peru can in the darkest night and in the thickest woods distinguish respectively a white man, a negro and one of their own race by the smell. Much we have gained by civilization, but not without some loss to our bodily energies and senses. Man's re-perceptive power after an injury is in the inverse ratio to his social advance. Similarly he seems to become less acute and delicate in the sense of smell as he fares better and lives more comfortably. The faithful dog puts him to shame.

Greek Notes.

We learn that the nose of Socrates was not Greek, but such as Greek artists usually assigned to satyrs. Occasionally, as in a beautiful group of a satyr playing dice with a nymph on a bronze mirror, they give satyrs another kind of nose. The noses of the ladies in the Tanagra terra cotta are of all agreeable orders of nose, not necessarily Greek. The chances are that the Greeks varied as much as we do in their noses, while the tradition of their art preferred the conventional straight nose. In the same way the kind of Roman noses which were just the sort of energetic, conquering people who have

Roman noses everywhere, like William of Orange and the Duke of Wellington.

The Letters Came Back.

A circumstantial fish story is told by the London News. The captain of the steamer Benalder of Leith, on a voyage to China, threw a bundle of old letters overboard in the Mediterranean. Some Spanish fishermen at Aguilas, near Cartagena, later caught a large fish and on opening it found a bundle of letters inside. They took this to the mayor, who managed to decipher in one name and address of the superintendent of the steamship line in London and thus to restore the letters to their owner.

Quitting.

Mrs. Patty—Do you really think Dr.

Duckman is a skillful physician?

Mrs. Giblin (the patient)—I don't know so much about that. But he has such a quieting way with him! When I said I hoped I shouldn't be buried alive he said he'd look out for that.

Wasn't that thoughtful of him?—Boston Transcript.

In a Bad Way.

Mary—I'm sorry to hear that you've not been feeling well. What seems to be the matter?

Jane—I suppose I am run down.

Why, for the last month I haven't been able to put any heart even into my shopping.—
